

Native language of the Aenth tribe, southwest Entanta.

From: ~5400 Before Our Time

Until: ~2070 Our Time

1. Core Features

- Root-Based: Every word is derived from a core root that can function as a noun or verb.
- Genderless: No grammatical gender distinctions.
- Anarchic Syntax: Free word order, but particles (like o, va, ir) clarify meaning.
- No Noun/Verb Distinction: Roots adapt based on usage (e.g., zayana = "love" or "to love").

2. Grammar & Structure

A. Tense Prefixes

Prefix	Meaning	Example (Root: zayana)
Ø-	Present	zayana ("loves")
Wo-	Past	wozayana ("loved")
Ta-	Future	tazayana ("will love")
Kha-	Hypothetical	khazayana ("would love")
A-	Eternal truth	arakha ("endures forever")

B. Key Particles

Particle	Function	Example
o	Possession / Target	Velesh o ve ("Friend of me")
ir	And / Connection	Simon ir Boynak ("Simon and Boynak")
va	To / Toward (direction)	Khyar-te va secheen! ("Storms toward the Sechians!")
ne	At / In (location)	Ta-shavoke ne! ("We will circle up here!")

C. Pronouns

Pronoun Meaning

ve	I
te	You
esh	They
ne	We
se	It

D. Pluralization

- Add -te (drop final vowel if present):
- moreen → moreente ("peoples")
- wootarkh → wootarkhte ("winds")

E. Core Roots

Root	Meaning (Noun/Verb)	Example Sentence	Translation
zayana	love / to love	"Ve zayana te."	"I love you."
rakh	break / to break	"Tarakh o secheen!"	"Break the Sechians!"
velesh	friend / to befriend	"Simon velesh o ve."	"Simon is my friend."
moreen	people / to populate	"Moreente azay enta."	"Peoples love freedom."
enta	freedom / to liberate	"Worakh o enta?"	"Did they break freedom?"
tarkh	flow / to dissolve	"Tarkhesste va velka."	"Rivers flow to mountains."
shavoke	circle / to gather	"Ta-shavoke ne!"	"We will circle up!"
nokh	name / to call	"Nokhte o moreen?"	"Names of the people?"
velka	mountain / to tower	"Velkte arakh."	"Mountains endure."

Root	Meaning (Noun/Verb)	Example Sentence	Translation
khyar	storm / to revolt	"Khyar-te va secheen!"	"Storms (revolts) toward the Sechians!"
ev	water / to quench	"Ev o Awooke."	"Water of Awooke."
woo	air / to breathe	"Ve woo."	"I breathe."
wootarkh	wind / to blow	"Wootarkh azay velka."	"Wind hits the mountains."
wootarkhrakh	tornado / to devastate	"Wootarkhrakh worakh o hut!"	"Tornado destroyed the hut."
lyum	hope / to glow	"Lyum-te va enta."	"Hopes toward freedom."
ir	and / to connect	"Simon ir Boynak."	"Simon and Boynak."
o	of / to belong	"Velesh o ve."	"Friend of me."
kar	grip/to hold, to have	"Ve kor velesh"	"I have a friend"
ta	Movement / to move
tavha	jump/to jump
sekh	enemy/to be mean	"Ve kor sekh"	"I have an enemy"

Direction Particles:

- Vha = "up"
- Loo = "down"
- Va = "toward" (existing)
- Ne = "at/in" (existing)

3. Syntax Rules

- Free word order, but particles define relationships.

- "Tarakh o secheen va enta!" ("Break the Sechians toward freedom!")
 - "O secheen tarakh va enta!" ("The Sechians—break them for freedom!") (emphasis on Sechians)
 - No strict subject-verb-object requirement, but meaning is inferred from particles.
-

4. Negation with Na

- Prefix:

- Nazayana = "don't love" / "un-love"
- Nawootarkh = "no wind" / "windlessness"

- Standalone:

- "Ta-rakh o secheen?" ("Will-break the Sechians?") → "Na." ("No.")

- Flexible Placement:

- Nazayana te = "Don't love you."
 - Zayana na te = "Love not you."
-

5. Advanced Examples

1. Complex Sentence:

- "Simon velesh o ve zayana o wootarkhrakhte!"
("Simon, my friend, loves tornadoes!")

2. Hypothetical + Plural:

- "Ve khaevtarkhakhte o veleshte."
("I would flood-destroy the friends.")

3. Eternal Truth:

- "Arakh o velka."
("Mountains endure forever.")
-

6. Semantic Flexibility

- Roots adapt to context:

- "Ev o Awooke." ("Water of Awooke.") vs. "Ve ev." ("I drink water.")

- Compounding:

- woo ("air") + tarkh ("flow") → wootarkh ("wind")

- wootarkh + rakh ("break") → wootarkhrakh ("tornado")